

Freshman Bryana Colon

Nominated by: Ms. Arroyo

Bryana is a very hardworking student. She always does her work and always offers to help those around her. She participates in class and in other in-school activities. She is always very kind with her teachers and her classmates. She's always very positive, optimistic and determined, and brings that around her teachers and her classmates.

Freshman Abner DelaRosa

Nominated by: Ms. Hayes

I was coming back up to my room and two of our new international students were in the hallway trying to get into their lockers and were having trouble. The halls were pretty empty because class had already started, but Abner was in the hallway and stopped to help the student who asked him and then checked to make sure the other student was able to get in the locker and helped her as well. After he helped both students he walked past my room and gave a thumbs up and a smile. It was a very small thing, but it just speaks to the wonderful person I already knew Abner to be. He was clearly just helping out just because he saw peers in need, not to receive any type of recognition and that in itself is worth the recognition of Student of the Month.

Sophomore Cassie Zhang

Nominated by: Mr. Osgood

Cassie has demonstrated herself to be a very diligent and motivated student. I can always count on her to be attentive in class and come to school ready to learn. She sets a positive classroom example for the rest of the students and makes my job easier. I also know she has big goals, so I know she will get even better.

Nominated by: Ms. Arroyo

Tyler is a very hardworking student who never gives up. No matter what the challenge is, Tyler will push through. He is always very kind and respectful of his classmates, and of all the adults here. He is a great Student of the Month.

Junior Mackenna O'Sullivan

Nominated by: Ms. Giacotto

Mackenna is my student of the month having managed the Design, Student Survey, Google Form Order, Money Collection and Delivery of French Club Spirit Wear this year from start to finish. We had a successful sales thanks to her organization and commitment to this task. If I had my own company, I would be sure to have Mackenna on my payroll knowing how incredibly efficient and organized she is. Bravo Mackenna, many of us will probably end up working for you one day, but appreciate everything you have done for the French Club this year!

Junior Jay Huang

Nominated by: Ms. Skowron

Jay always gives me a cheery greeting each day as he enters Mr. Seno's class, and he then wishes me a good day when he leaves the class. He is always both respectful and cheerful. Last year, he was a quiet and shy young man, but Jay worked hard in the Reading Strategies class and also joined Cross Country. I marvel at the change Jay has made since last year. Now he seems to be more outgoing and speaks English quite well. Jay is a credit to both himself and the International Program for his courtesy and his work ethic.

Senior Nicole Stepien

Nominated by: Ms. Hayes

Nicole has truly stepped up as one of the senior class officers this year, and as one of the class moderators I am so grateful for that! She is at every event, is willing to help with whatever is needed, and she's also become a contact person for some of our fundraising and prom endeavors. Nicole's helpful and selfless attitude have made her a huge asset to the senior class and wonderful example of a student who is actively involved in their school and making it a great year for the class of 2018.

Senior Desean Thomas

Nominated by: Ms. Hayes

Desean is coming off a first semester that was probably his most academically successful semester of high school. He has already told me, more than once, that he intends to exceed the success he had first semester during the second semester. So far he is living up to his word. The fact that Desean realized the success he had first semester and is determined to do even better in his last semester of high school makes him a great example of dedication and perseverance which makes him a great Student of the Month.
